THE BEST QUALITY OF FRESH MACKEREL at CUNNINGHAM & CARMON'S.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
AND
Hoofland's German Tonic.
The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS

Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medically termed, Extracts,) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation, highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.

Those preferring a Medicine free from Alcoholic admixture, will use

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

Those who have no objection to the combination of the bitters, as stated, will use

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.

They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.

The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing as closely as it does with the stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:

Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fulness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.

The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which he wants from his investigation of its ingredients possesses true merit, is skillfully compounded in the most ingenious manner, and is established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well known remedies—

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Prepared by DR. C. M. JACKSON,
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.

These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.

DEBILITY,

Resulting from any Cause whatever; PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM, induced by Severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Excesses, &c.

There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.

PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE,

And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shattered forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.

NOTICE.

It is a well established fact that fully one half of the female portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health, or, to use their own expression, never feel well. They are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite.

To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended.

WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN,

Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of MALARIUS, without fail.

Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. These, it will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed.

TESTIMONIALS.

HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD,
Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pa., writes:
Philadelphia, March 18, 1767.

"I find 'Hoofland's German Bitters' is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility, and want of nervous action in the system.
Yours, truly,
GEO. W. WOODWARD."

HON. JAMES THOMPSON,
Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.
Philadelphia, April 28, 1860.

"I consider 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours, with respect, JAMES THOMPSON."

FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D.,
Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds: I studiously, but regarding the practice out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear conscience and full proof in various instances and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.
Yours, very respectfully,
J. H. KENNARD,
Eighth, below Coates St.

FROM REV. E. D. FENDALL.
Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.

I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver.
Yours truly,
E. D. FENDALL.

CAN THERE BE HARM IN KISSING?

BY VAN RUSSEL.

The waters kiss the pebbly shore;
The winds all kiss the hills;
The sunbeams kiss the tulip bud
For the odor it distills.

The dew-drops kiss the rose at morn,
The cereus dew at eve;
The fern and flower, in circling clasp,
Their mystic beauties weave.

The moon-beams kiss the clouds at night;
The star gems kiss the sea;
While shadows dreamy, soft, and light,
Are kissing on the lea.

The zephyrs kiss the budding pink
That blooms on beauty's lip,
And ruder blasts, though cold and chill,
Its ruby nectar sip.

The winds, the waves, the budding flowers,
The laughing, merry rills,
Are kissing all from morn till eve,
And clouds still kiss the hills.

Even heaven and earth do meet to kiss
Through tears of sparkling dew.
In kissing, then, can there be harm?
I don't think so—do you?

A FEARFUL ADVENTURE.

BY EMERSON BENNETT.

I was a medical student in Paris at the time the strange and startling adventure happened which I am about to record. Tired with long lectures and hard study, I was out one evening for a walk in the fresh air. It was a pleasant night in mid-winter, and the cold, bracing air, as it touched my feverish brow, caused a grateful sensation.

Passing through a rather lonely street near the river, I was surprised at meeting a young and pretty girl (at least so she appeared in the dim light of a rather distant street lamp,) who carried in her hand some three or four boquets, which she offered for sale.

"Will monsieur have a boquet?" she asked, in a sweet, musical tone, holding out to me a well-arranged collection of beautiful flowers.

"They are very pretty," said I, taking them in my hand; and then, somehow, I could not help adding, as I fixed my eyes upon hers: "and so, I think, is their fair owner."

"Monsieur will buy and assist me?" she said.

"Do you then really need assistance, mademoiselle?"

"Why else should I be here at this hour of the night, monsieur?"

"And why here at all?" quickly returned I. "This street is little frequented, and is about the last in the world I should have selected for disposing of a luxury most suited to wealth and fashion."

She sighed, and reached out her hand for the boquet which I still retained.

"What is your price?" said I.

"Five francs."

"A large sum."

"Monsieur will remember it is Winter, and flowers are not plenty."

"To aid you I will purchase," returned I, handing her the requisite silver coin; "for though I love flowers, I would otherwise hardly indulge in the luxury to-night at such an expense."

She thanked me, and seemed about to pass on, but hesitated, looked up to me, and said:

"Could monsieur direct me to the house of a good physician, who will turn out to-night and see a patient at a small recompense?"

"Any friend of yours ill?"

"My mother!" with a deep sigh and downcast look.

"Where does she reside?"

"Only a short distance from here."

"What is the matter with her?"

"She has a high fever for one thing."

"When was she taken?"

"She came down last night, and has not left her bed since."

"Why did you not send for a doctor at once?"

"We hoped she would get better soon, and it is so expensive for poor people to employ a physician."

"I am myself a medical student, with considerable experience among the sick of the hospitals, and if you are disposed to trust the case to me, I am at your service without charge," I replied, already feeling deeply interested in the fair girl.

"Oh, how shall I thank Monsieur!" she exclaimed, with clasped hands, and an upward grateful look. "Pray follow me, Monsieur le Docteur."

She turned at once, and moved off at a rapid pace down the street, toward the river Seine, in the direction I was walking when we met.

In less than five minutes we had entered a wretched quarter, among narrow streets, old tottering buildings, and squalid looking inhabitants, some of whom seemed to glare at us as we passed along.

"Is it much farther?" inquired I, beginning to feel uneasy.

"Only a step, Monsieur. It is just here."

Almost immediately she turned into a covered passage, which led in back among habitations that I should never have voluntarily visited in the broad light of day. A distant lamp served to make the gloom visible, till suddenly she stopped and opened a door into total darkness.

"Your hand, monsieur le Docteur," she said, at the same time taking it and leading me forward.

I was tempted to draw back and refuse to go any farther, though I mechanically followed her.

We now went through a long, narrow passage, in total darkness, and, after two or three short turns, began to descend a flight of rotten creaking stairs.

"Is it possible you live in a place like this?" said I, secretly wishing myself well out of it.

"In Paris beggars cannot be choosers," replied the girl.

"But even in Paris it is not necessary for the living to take up their abodes in sepulchres!" I rejoined with some asperity, being vexed at myself for suffering my good nature to lead me into a den from which I might never come out alive.

To this my guide deigned no reply. On reaching the foot of the stairs, she pushed open a door, into a small dimly-lighted room, and I followed her into it with some secret misgivings. There was a bed in one corner, and on it appeared to be a human form lying very still.

"I have brought a doctor, mother," said the girl, as she closed the door behind me. As there was no reply to this she turned to me, saying:

"Will Monsieur le Docteur please to be seated a minute. I think my mother is asleep."

I beg mademoiselle will bear in mind that I can only spare a few moments in this case to-night, as I have another call I wish to make immediately," I returned, feeling very anxious to depart from the subterranean quarter as quick as possible.

"Monsieur shall not be long detained by me," rejoined the girl, passing out of the room by another door.

I did not sit down, but walked over to the bed, where the patient was lying very still—so still indeed that I could not detect any breathing. A woman's cap was on the head and the end of a sheet concealed the face. I ventured to turn this down carefully, and beheld the eyeless sockets and grinning teeth of a human skull.

I started back in horror and at the same moment the door by which the girl had left was thrown open, and in marched, one after the other, four tall human figures, in black gowns and masks. I knew at once, then, that I was to be robbed, and probably murdered. I wore a heavy diamond pin and ring, carried a very valuable gold watch, and had in money about my person some five hundred francs, but not a single weapon of any kind. Resistance being therefore out of the question, I felt that my only chance—it, indeed, there were indeed a chance—was to conciliate the ruffians and buy myself off. With a presence of mind, for which I still take to myself considerable credit, I said at once:

"I understand it all, gentlemen, and you will find me a very liberal person to deal with. There is one thing I value very highly, because it is the only one I have, and I cannot replace it—that is my life. Everything else of mine is at your service, even beyond what I have with me."

They were undoubtedly surprised to hear me speak in that cool, off-hand manner; but they marched forward and surrounded me before either returned a word.

"How much have you with you, then?" inquired one, in a civil way, but in a low gruff tone.

I immediately mentioned the different articles of value and the exact amount of money.

"All of which I shall be pleased to present you with, if one of you will be kind enough to escort me to the street above," I added.

"You said you had more monsieur."

"Yes, gentlemen, I have ten thousand francs in the bank of France, and I will willing add a check for half that amount."

"Checks don't serve our purposes very well," said a second voice.

"Then I pledge you my honor that I will, to morrow, draw out five thousand francs, and pay the amount over to any person who may approach me with this boquet in his hand," said I, holding out the flowers I had purchased of the fair decoy.

"And have him arrested the next minute I suppose."

"No, on my honor, he shall depart unharmed and unquestioned; and no other human being shall be informed of the transaction for a week, a month or a year."

"Let us first handle what you have here," said the first speaker.

I immediately took out my pin, took off my ring, drew out my watch, and placed them all in his extended hand.

"You make us a present of these, now?" he said.

"Yes, on condition that one of you will forthwith conduct me to the street, above," I replied.

"Monsieur is a very liberal gentleman? Eh, comrades?" said the mask, turning to the others.

"A very liberal gentleman, indeed!" was the response.

They then drew off together, scrutinized the articles by the light of a smoky lamp, and conversed together in low tones. I felt that they were holding a consultation that involved my life, and, to speak the honest truth, it seemed as if every nerve in me quivered; and it was with difficulty I could stand.

At length the principal spokesman turned to me and said, in a very cool and methodical manner:

"Monsieur has acted more like a gentleman than any other person we ever had dealings with, and if we could, consistent with our business, oblige him, we should be happy to do so; but unfortunately we are governed by a rule, which is law with us, that dead men tell no tales, and we think it will not do to make an exception in this case. We will, however, in consideration of monsieur's gentlemanly behavior, be as mild and lenient as possible in doing our duty, and grant monsieur five minutes for saying his prayers."

"You have then resolved to murder me?" gasped I.

"Monsieur uses a very hard term, but we will let that pass. You have five minutes yet to live by this watch."

The villain then held my watch to the light, and I felt indeed that my minutes were numbered, and secretly began to pray for the salvation of my soul believing that I could not save my body.

A death like silence now reigned in that gloomy apartment for some time, and then one of the ruffians bent down and lifted a trap-door, and from the dark pit below issued a noisome smell, as it might be of putrid bodies. I beheld my intended grave, and shuddered and shook like an aspen.

But why stand there and die like a dog, without a single attempt at escape? At the worst it could be but death and there was a bare possibility that I might get away. I fixed my eyes on the door which opened on the stairway, and with a single sudden bound reached it, but found it fast locked. Then, as the hands of the ruffians seized me with murderous intent, I uttered a wilk shriek, the door was burst in with a loud crash, and in a moment the room was filled with gend'armes. I saw that I was saved, and fainted and fell.

The four masks, the fair decoy, and some two or three others concerned in that murderous den, were all secured that night, and I subsequently had the pleasure of giving in my evidence against them, and seeing them all condemned to the galleys for life.

The place had for some time been suspected and the decoy marked. On that night a detective had secretly followed the girl and myself, and after ascertaining whither she had conducted me, had hastened to bring a body of gend'armes to this place. The delay of the ruffians in their murderous design, had been just sufficient to save me. I scarcely need add that I never again volunteered to accompany a distressed damsel on a secret adventure while I remained in Paris.

THE POWER OF A WORD.—A mother on the green hills of Vermont, was holding by the right hand a son, sixteen years old, mad with the love of the sea. As she stood by the garden gate one morning, she said: "Edward, they tell me, for I never saw the ocean, that the great temptation of the seaman's life is drink. Promise me, before you quit your mother's hand, that you will never drink." "And," said he, [for he told me the story,] I gave her the promise, and I went the bread globe over, Calcutta and the Mediterranean, San Francisco, the Cape of Good Hope, the North Pole and the South. I saw them all in forty years, and I never saw a glass filled with sparkling liquor that my mother's form by the gate did not rise before me; and to-day I am innocent of the taste of liquor." Was not that sweet evidence of the power of a single word? Yet that was not half. "For, said he, "yesterday there came into my counting room a man of about forty years and asked me, "do you know me?" "No." "Well said he, "I was once brought drunk into your presence on shipboard; you were a passenger; the captain kicked me aside; you took me to your berth and kept me there till I had slept off the intoxication; you then asked me if I had a mother. I said I had never known a word from her lips. You told me of yours at the garden gate, and to-day I am master of one of the best packets in New York; and I came to ask you to come and see me.'" How far that little candle throws its beams! That mother's word on the green hills of Vermont! O, God be thanked for the mighty power of a single word!

"NO PLACE."—A great many boys and young men complain there is no chance for them. They cannot get places. It is hard to find anything to do. Perhaps it is hard to get just such places as they like. That is not the point, however. When you get a place—and there are places, this big country I am sure has need of every good boy and girl and man and woman in it,—when you get a place, I say, make yourself useful in it; make yourself necessary to employers, make yourself so necessary by your fidelity and good behaviour, that they cannot do without you. Be willing to take a low place at first, no matter what the work, if it be honest work. Do it well, do it to the very best you can. Begin at the lowest round of the ladder, and climb up. The great want everywhere is faithful, capable workers.

They are never a drug in market.—Make yourself one of these, and there will always be a place for you, and a good one too.

Said a rich merchant of a clerk in his store,

'He has been so useful to us, we can't let him go; his place cannot be supplied. We must make him a partner.' That's it boys.

A SINGULAR WARNING.—A gentleman living near Charleston, S. C., one night made a good fire, it being rather cool, and went to bed. Shortly after retiring a bird, supposed to be a whip-poor-will, began to sing, and seemed to say, "you've set your house on fire!" which was repeated quickly. The gentleman listened to the bird attentively for some moments, then thinking that it might be a warning, as the fire was burning briskly, he got up to see if the chimney was on fire, which he not only found to be the case, but the roof of his house was on fire. With the aid of the freedmen, the flames were extinguished. He says that but for the timely warning of the bird, he should not have got up, as he did not feel the least apprehension of fire when he retired.

Interesting about the Locusts.

Mr. Daniel Lehman, the messenger at the York County National Bank, informs the editor of the True Democrat, that the locusts made their appearance in 1817, on the 23d day of May—in 1834, about the same time, and in 1851 on the 26th of May. He has ascertained the fact, too, that the most of them are now about five inches below the surface of the earth, and their protracted stay is attributable to the continued wet weather. Many of them have died in the ground on account of the frequent rains, and we may justly conclude that they will, by no means, be as numerous as in former years. In 1817, Mr. Lehman made the following experiment: He took some of the small branches where the eggs had been deposited and wrapped them carefully up and laid them away and did not open them until 1834, when the locusts made their appearance again; and then by the aid of a microscope, discovered that the eggs were dead and had never made the least advance toward incubation. In that year he put a quantity of the eggs in a bottle and corked it up and did not examine its contents again until 1851, when he found the results the same—the eggs were dead, and had made no progress towards hatching.

From this it is well established that the eggs of the locust must come in contact with the earth before they will advance towards life—that the soil is essential to the development of the life-giving property they contain.

By frequent experiment Mr. Lehman has also ascertained that the locusts never descend further than six feet into the earth, which is an entire refutation of the fallacy that they pass entirely through it during the long absence of seventeen years. What they live on, or how they subsist, in their self constituted grave; whether they increase and multiply, or remain to all intents and purposes, dead all this time, we believe, has never been ascertained. These singular insects are certainly the most wonderful of all natural phenomena and should be made a special subject of study. Their coming and going is an object of interest for the curious and scientific, and certainly teach a lesson which has never yet been fully and satisfactorily explained.

THE UNCHURCHED.—The New York Observer gives the following statistics, which speak for themselves:—

St. Louis, Missouri, with a population of 204,327, has accommodations in the Evangelical churches for but 23,339 persons, and yet the churches are not well filled.

Leavenworth, Kansas, has a population of 24,000, not over 3,000 of whom attend Protestant worship.

The population of Knox county, Ill., is 34,404, of whom 28,871 are above six years of age; the whole number of church members in the county is 5,094.

St. Joseph, Missouri, has a population of 19,000, and its ten Protestant churches have sittings for but 3,000.

Waupaca county, Wisconsin, has a population of 12,000 persons, but 4,000 of whom are church goers.

Quite 150,000 persons in Chicago are entirely beyond the influence of the Gospel.

Trenton, New Jersey, has 833 families, and New Brunswick 300, who never go to church.

New York City, with a population of about 800,000, has 350 churches, chapels, and missions, with sittings for 300,000 persons, leaving 500,000 who could not attend if they would, and yet few of our churches are crowded.

There are in Cleveland, Ohio, 19,000 persons over five years of age, who are never found in a house of worship.

IDLE DAUGHTERS.—It is a most painful spectacle in families, where the mother is the drudge, to see the daughters elegantly dressed, reclining at their ease, with their drawing, their fancy work, and their reading; beguiling themselves of the lapse of hours, days and weeks, and never dreaming of their responsibilities, but as a necessary consequence of neglect of duty, growing weary of useless lives, laying hold of every newly invented stimulant to amuse their drooping energies, and blaming their fate when they dare not blame their God for having placed them where they are. These individuals will often tell you with the air of affected compassion—for who can believe it real?—that poor dear mamma is working herself to death. Yet no sooner do you suppose that they should assist her than they declare she is quite in her element—in short, that she would never be happy if she had only half the work to do.

☞Voting in Greece is somewhat different from voting in America. The polling places are churches. Thirty ballot-boxes are placed on the floor of the church, each of them bearing the name of a candidate. Upon one half of the box, painted white, is written "Yes," and on the other half, painted black, is written "No." A clerk attends the voter, with thirty bullets, and, when opposite a box, pronounces the name of the candidate and hands the voter a bullet. Passing his arm up a funnel about a foot in length, the voter's hand arrives unseen at a division box, and he drops the ball to the right or left, "yes" or "no," as the case may be, and so on throughout the whole thirty. The system is said to insure secresy and perfect order.

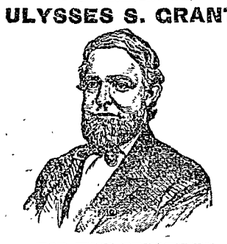
OUR CANDIDATES:

"WE WILL FIGHT IT OUT ON THIS LINE."

FOR PRESIDENT,

ULYSSES S. GRANT.



FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

SCHUYLER COLFAX.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL,

GEN. JOHN F. HARTRANFT,

OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL,

GEN. JACOB M. CAMPBELL,

OF CAMBRIA COUNTY.

THE GLOBE FOR THE CAMPAIGN

We propose to send the Globe to campaign subscribers, to the 15th of November, at the following rates:

To single subscribers, 75cts. per copy.
To clubs of 5 and less than 10, 50cts. " "
To clubs of 10 and less than 20, 40cts. " "
To clubs of 20 and upwards, 35cts. " "

The above rates will not cover expenses, but we are willing to contribute something that every voter in the county may have an opportunity to read the political news during the campaign. Our friends we hope will make an effort to get up clubs. Subscriptions invariably in advance.

☞The fight in the Democratic party by the friends of the several candidates for the Presidency is becoming very interesting. Chase is growing rapidly in favor, and we would not be the least surprised if he should receive the nomination on the 4th of July. Just think of it—the most prominent Radical leader receiving a Democratic nomination. Politics is mixing up considerably.

☞Mr. Geo. H. Stuart, of Philadelphia, who figured conspicuously during the war as President of the Christian Commission, has been suspended from the General Synod of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, for the very trivial offence of singing hymns and communing with Christians of other denominations. Is this right; is it charitable? Is it the same spirit which characterized the Saviour of the world? We think not.

☞The Republican Convention of Bedford county met in Bedford on Tuesday last, and placed in nomination the following ticket:

Congress—Hon. John Cessna.
Additional Law Judge—Col. D. Watson Rowe.
Legislature—Lieut. J. H. Longnecker.
Commissioner—Col. Lewis A. May, of Colerain.
Director of the Poor—Josiah M. Lehman, of Coledale.
Auditor—Jacob Evans, of Londonderry.
Coroner—Charles L. Buck, of South Woodberry.

"We are aware that the editor dislikes very much to have his record picked at him."—Journal & American.

That's we, of course. Now the editors of the "organ" are mistaken, if they think we back from our record against "intense Radicalism;" and the Chicago platform upon which Grant and Colfax stand is just the opposite of the "intensely Radical platform" the intense Radicals such as Stevens, Phillips & Co. contended for. We are very sure that the "organ" is not helping Grant and Colfax in this county by asserting that they stand upon an "intensely Radical platform." We would advise the "organ" to exercise a little common sense if it wishes to work for the success of the candidates it pretends to support. Public opinion is that the editors of the "organ" are very short-sighted politicians.

AN INDIAN REPROOF.—Reports come of the fear of another Indian war, and the Indians are represented as saying:

"Let the war come, for we will find more to eat, in the wake of your armies than in the wallets of your Indian agents. They promise to feed, but kill us; while your soldiers threaten to kill, but feed us. What we can steal from them, and what they waste and throw away, afford us better supplies than the annuities you promise to pay us—especially when they are not paid."

There is danger, certainly, from the parties who are interested in trying to get up another war. These are men who thrive on border warfare, and to whom killing Indians is rare sport. General Sheridan has committed to him a most responsible trust, and from the report of his visiting all the stations, will do all he can to prevent the selfishly inclined from having their way.

PREPARE.—It is high time, considering the importance of the struggle before us, that preparations should commence, to prosecute the political campaign with vigor. No inaction will be allowed if the success of the Republican party is to be insured. A simple reliance upon past victories will not make us positively secure of another. It will require vigilance and active working to accomplish a triumph at the coming elections, and we especially urge upon the members of the Republican party in this county, to organize clubs in every township, and in every voting district. Keep awake to the issues before us, and agitate them with a will.

We have chosen our leaders, and let us accept the motto of our hero, when he was before the rebels near Richmond. He had chosen his position, and with peculiar emphasis he declared "I will fight it out on this line if it takes all summer." He knew his enemy, and he understood very well how they were entrenched. He knew it would require a determined and continuous struggle before he could break their lines. But he was determined, and he did win. We are in the same position now. The opposition are fortifying themselves strongly, and the longer we permit them to rest, the stronger will they make their position. We must meet them now, and carry on the warfare until we beat them back from all their ramparts, and surround them in their fortress. Then comes the final attack. We may "let them alone" too long, and then when we do attack, we may find the victory uncertain and inglorious. Prepare now, fight now, and it will be easier at the end, and the triumph will be more complete.

"We have no objections to any man supporting the Republican party."—Journal & American.

Then why your factious unsuccessful efforts to prevent us from supporting the Republican party? Is it not that you fear we may deserve the confidence of the best Republicans in the county and share with you the patronage of the party? Don't be so selfish—there is room for you—there is room for us—but, fodder or no fodder, we intend to support Grant, Colfax, the State, District and County Tickets, and you, Mr. editors of the Journal & American, can't prevent us. We are in, and intend to "stay with you."—When the campaign is over and the victory won, we may then condescend to give you a few "intelligent reasons" why we support the nominees of the Republican party, etc., etc., etc., etc., and act with the organization for the success of its candidates. Take the advice of a friend and work with us for harmony and for the success of the candidates of the party. The battle will not be easily won—united we stand, divided we fall.

GRANT AND THE CLERGY.—The Chaplain of Grant's regiment relates the following incident:

When at home, he generally attended the Methodist Episcopal Church. While colonel of the 21st Regiment, he gave every encouragement and facility for securing a prompt and uniform observance of religious services, and was generally found in the audience listening to preaching.

Shortly after I came into the regiment, our mess were one day taking their usual seats around the dinner table, when he remarked:

"Chaplain, when I was at home, and ministers were stopping at my house, I always invited them to ask a blessing at the table. I suppose a blessing is as much needed here as at home; and if it is agreeable with your views, I should be glad to have you ask a blessing every time we sit down to eat."

☞At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Equal Rights Association, held in New York, Monday, June 8th, the following resolution was offered by Theodore Tilton, and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, Miss Susan B. Anthony, through various published writings in the Revolution, has given the world to understand that the hope of the Woman's Rights cause rests more largely with the Democratic party than with any other portion of the people; therefore,

Resolved, That Miss Anthony be requested to attend the approaching National Democratic Convention in New York, July 4th, for the purpose of fulfilling this cheerful hope by securing in the Democratic platform a recognition of woman's rights to the elective franchise.

☞We are in receipt of the Morning Patriot published at Harrisburg by B. F. Meyers, J. W. Brown, D. W. Moore. We are greatly taken with the vastly improved appearance of this Democratic sheet and barring success politically, we wish it all the encouragement of which it is deserving. Mr. Meyers was formerly editor, and is still proprietor of the Bedford Gazette, and his management of the latter journal shows that he is well qualified to conduct a city daily.

—The Monitor man in his last number advises his Democratic friends to watch us closely that we may be prevented from taking men from their ranks over to the support of Grant.—We thank the editor for the compliment, and promise that we will "read in" all we can and look for more. We want votes and therefore are opposed to the reading out policy of the "organ!"

The battle-ground of the present campaign, says the New York Tribune, lies in Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Ohio. Upon the heavy electoral vote of New York (33.) Pennsylvania (26), and Ohio (21) depends the result of the contest. The Republican party must win if it carries either. The Democratic party may win if it carries them all Political Chip Basket.

The Chicago Times, which has been busy retailing the recent slander against Grant, backs it up by the pretended authority of Isidor Rosenthal, clerk of the Chicago Health Department. Mr. Rosenthal publishes a card in which he denounces the statement of the Times to be a slander utterly without foundation.

It is understood that the President has written a letter to the Hon. W. S. Groesbeck, of Ohio, tendering him the office of Secretary of the Treasury, and that Mr. Groesbeck is holding it under advisement. It is believed in well-informed circles that the appointment will be accepted.

General Schofield is busily engaged in clearing up the accumulated business of the War Department, which, from the recent complication of affairs in that office, and from other causes, has been awaiting official action for some time.

It is said that the President will not veto any more of the Reconstruction acts, but allow them to become laws without his signature. This simply saves Congress the trouble of passing them over his veto.

The Republicans in Philadelphia have in nomination two candidates for District Attorney—Mr. Mann and Mr. Hazlehurst. Both will be beaten if neither declines. The office is worth some twenty or thirty thousand a year.

Mr. Pendleton wants his name withdrawn at the Democratic convention, if anybody gets one vote more than he does. What a scratching there will be to get that one vote.

It is said there are as many Democratic candidates for President as there are States. Of course every one of them thinks himself a little better than Grant.

The Republicans that bolted in the recent State election in California are turning in for Grant and Colfax. We may expect a good account from the golden State next November.

Brick Pomeroy swears he will oppose all Democratic candidates for national offices who refuse to endorse repudiation of the national debt.

Pendleton stock is still the highest among the "pure" Democrats, and it is alleged that another candidate is far behind in the Chase.

Hon. Reverdy Johnston, appointed by the President Minister to England, was unanimously confirmed by the Senate on Friday.

The La Crosse Democrat and the New England Anti-Slavery Association pronounced against Grant and Colfax.

Hon. Edwin M. Stanton is urged by some Republican journals as a fit person to succeed Mr. Buckalew in the United States Senate.

Hon. E. A. Rollins, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, has resigned his office.

The nomination of Gen. George B. McClellan as Minister to England, was rejected by the Senate.

Now Alabama, if admitted, is just as ready to go Republican as old Massachusetts.

A Letter from General Grant.

Hon. Isaac N. Morris, an old and prominent Democrat of Quincy, Ill., who has repeatedly been honored by his party by being placed in high official position, having several times represented his district in Congress, made a speech in Quincy recently, in which he declared that the highest welfare of the nation demands the election of General Grant to the Presidency. His speech was carefully prepared, and an able one. Col. Morris read to the audience the following letter from Gen. Grant, written in 1864, in reply to a query from himself whether Grant would accept the Presidential nomination or not:

NASHVILLE, TENN., Jan. 20, 1864.

HON. I. N. MORRIS—Dear Sir:—Your letter of the 29th of December I did not receive until two days ago. I receive many such, but do not answer. Yours, however, in such a kindly spirit, and as you ask for an answer, confidentially, I will not withhold it. Allow me to say, however, that I am not a politician, never was, and hope never to be, and could not write a political letter. My only desire is to serve the country in her present trials. To do this efficiently it is necessary to have the confidence of the army and the people. I know no way to better secure this end than by a faithful performance of my duties. So long as I hold my present position I do not believe that I have the right to criticise the policy or orders of those above me, or to give utterance to views of my own except to the authorities at Washington, through the General-in-Chief of the army. In this respect I know I have proven myself a 'good soldier.'

In your letter, you say that I have it in my power to be the next President. This is the last thing in the world I desire. I would regard such a consummation as being highly unfortunate for myself, if not for the country. Through Providence I have attained to more than I ever hoped, and with the position I now hold in the regular army, if allowed to retain it, will be more than satisfied. I certainly shall never shape a sentiment, or the expression of a thought, with a view of being a candidate for office. I scarcely know the inducement that could be held out to me to accept office, and unhesitatingly say that I infinitely prefer my present position to that of any civil office within the gift of the people.

This is a private letter to you, not intended for others to see or read, because I want to avoid being heard from by the public except through acts in the performance of my legitimate duties.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

U. S. GRANT.

The editor of the Johnstown Tribune declares in his last issue: "Henceforth we decline all professional and social intercourse with the editor of the Democrat. We decline all controversy with him on any subject. He shall be to us a stranger speaking an unknown tongue." That looks bad, gentlemen, very bad, Editors of newspapers ought to possess a little more of that sterling quality called good nature, and not abuse each other personally.

Huntingdon county now composes one Internal Revenue sub-district, Jas. Steel, Esq., being Assistant Assessor.

Pendleton on the Situation.

A correspondent of the New York Herald has had an interview with the Hon. George H. Pendleton, the result of which is thus reported:—

Mr. Pendleton refused to hold a political conversation with the reporter for the purpose of publication. The correspondent then says:—

Disappointed at the outset of my undertaking, I was compelled to have recourse to the best means at hand of learning the exact views of Mr. Pendleton on the questions now agitating political circles. I had not forgotten that he was wholly unreserved among his friends in discussing these questions. In fact, in their society he has always been very communicative. From one of the most intimate of those friends—one who enjoys his confidence to the fullest extent—I have gathered such facts as are given below, and the assurance is imparted with them that they are entirely reliable as a precise definition of Mr. Pendleton's position and opinions. On this point there is no cause whatever for doubt.

The Western Democrats are watching with jealous interest the progress of the movement to nominate Chief Justice Chase. It was a complication, or rather a development, for which they were wholly unprepared. They feel, not bitterly, but warmly on the subject in opposition to those who would make Mr. Chase the Democratic nominee for President at the next election, and the friends of Mr. Pendleton will make a desperate fight against the Chief Justice in the Convention. They cannot understand the inconsistency, as they call it, of their Eastern brethren in abandoning the principle which they advocated only a few months ago when it was possible that Mr. Chase might even be the most suitable of candidates to the most radical of Republicans. Mr. Chase's views are not Democratic, and he cannot stand upon the Democratic platform without an entire recantation of *his own words, or without a very de*cided alteration of his opinions. The Democratic faith, according to the Western interpretation of it, entertains no policy on the question of suffrage, except that the question is one which should and must be left to the States to decide, each one for itself.—Even a modification of Mr. Chase's views would not be sufficient. Universal suffrage, suffrage and representation according to the proposed article fourteen, or impartial suffrage, are all contrary to Democratic doctrine.—The nomination of Mr. Chase would, therefore, be impossible without a very curious political somerset on the part of the Chief Justice, or a fatal abandonment of the principles by the Democratic party.

The friends of Mr. Pendleton arraign Mr. Chase on another and, in their estimation, very serious charge. They can forgive their Eastern brethren for their abandonment of their policy on the question of suffrage, because in these days politicians are apt to do many strange things but they cannot discover by what process the Democratic leaders hope to bring the party to endorse the ex-Secretary of the Treasury, who, with Jay Cooke, was the author of the assumption that the seventeen hundred millions of five twenty bonds are payable, principal and interest, in gold. It should not be forgotten that the financial question is one in which the West is much more deeply interested than the East, and the platform of next fourth of July, whatever glittering generalities it may contain, must be explicit on the question of the bonds, or it will not be so cordially supported in the West, where everybody talks finance and currency. The Democrats here might yield on the question of suffrage to their time serving confreres of the Atlantic States, but on the question of the bonded debt they are immovable. Hence they look with eager interest as delegation after delegation and journal after journal pronounces in the East for the nomination of Mr. Chase, who is, more than any other individual, responsible for a theory regarding the payment of the bonds which is to add eight hundred millions of dollars to the national debt, or about thirty-three per cent. of the amount which is in the form of bonds.

Whatever his friends think for him Mr. Pendleton has kept to himself what he thinks of Mr. Chase as the Democratic candidate. He is not disposed to yield his own claims to the nomination, especially as his friends are so enthusiastic and determined in his support. He is naturally ambitious of becoming President of the United States, and his friends think he would make a good one. The sudden appearance of Mr. Chase on the political stage as a rival to himself has been so unlooked for that he has formed no opinions on the subject. It is doubted indeed, whether he regards Mr. Chase's chances with any apprehension.

Mr. Pendleton, if not the author, is at least the great expounder of the theory that the seventeen hundred millions of five-twenty bonds, as they are familiarly known, are not necessarily payable in gold, but are, by the law which brought them into being, payable in lawful money or legal tenders. His promulgation of these views has given him a notoriety all over the West, and made him the popular candidate for them Democratic nomination, so far as his own part of the country is concerned. He is not likely, therefore, to be a favorite with the Belmont Democratic bond-holding capitalists of the East, who are extremely sensitive on this question, and who would rather omit its consideration at the Convention, as was indicated at Albany last March, when Seymour made his non-committal speech previous to the election of the State delegates. The West will insist on the insertion of a plank in the platform representative of the greenback interest, and hope to place Mr. Pendleton upon it as their champion. His views in detail on this vexed question may not be uninteresting just now.—True to his State rights opinions he charges that the present financial system is to be made an important part in the process of consolidation and centralization now going on in pursuance of the policy of the Republican party. He believes that the enormous debt should be paid, every dollar of it, principal and interest, at the time it becomes due "exactly in accordance with the terms of the contract under which the loans were made."—The last few words, as quoted, contain the gist of his position.

He holds to the ancient Democratic faith on the question of suffrage in the reconstructed States. It is one which is constitutionally left to the States, and each State should have the right to determine it for itself. He is opposed to the enfranchisement of the negro in the South by Congress, and thinks that if the black man is committed to the care of his white fellow-citizens in that region he will be subjected to no more injustice than is the woman of the North, who is not allowed to vote, but is still secured in all her rights. His parallel is quite an ingenious, if not an original illustration of his views on this important issue.

Chief Justice Chase on the Situation.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald furnishes the following to that journal:

The following confidential letter from Chief Justice Chase to a personal friend has been handed to me. It so distinctly marks the present position and sentiments of Mr. Chase on important political questions that I do not feel at liberty to withhold its publication:

WASHINGTON, May 25, 1868.—My Dear Sir: You are right in believing that I "shall never abandon the great principles for the success of which I have given my life." I adhere to my "old creed of equal rights," without one jot or tittle of abatement. I shall be glad if the new professors of that creed adhere to it as faithfully

I am amazed by the torrent of invectives by which I am drenched.—Almost everything alleged as fact is falsehood out of the whole cloth.—Where an allegation has a little fact in it the fact is so perverted and travestied that it becomes falsehood. I know no motive for all this except disappointment that impeachment has not thus far proved a success, coupled with a belief that I have done something to prevent its being a success.—I have not been a partisan of impeachment certainly; but I have not been a partisan on the other side. As presiding officer over the trial, my conscience testifies that I have been strictly impartial; and I am sure that any one who reads the report will say so. Individually I have my convictions and opinions but I have very seldom given utterance to them. Indeed, I do not think that the case, in any of the aspects, has been the subject of conversation between myself and more than four or five Senators, and then only casually and briefly.—No Senator will say that I have sought to influence him.

The real ground of denunciation is that I have not been a partisan of conviction; and this denunciation I am willing to bear. They may denounce and abuse me and read me out of the party if they choose. I follow the old lights, not the new.

What the developments of the future may be I know not. I neither expect nor desire to be a candidate for office again. It would, however, gratify me exceedingly if the Democratic party would take ground which would assure the party against all attempts to subvert the principle of universal suffrage established in eight, and to be established in all of the Southern constitutions. Then, I think the future of the great cause—for which I have labored so long—would be secure, and I should not regret my absence from political labors.

Brief Items.

Cu-cum-bers are coming.

Four more candidates announced to-day.

The Senior will be from home for a week or ten days, as a juror, at Williamsport.

On the go: Straw hats, dusters, and summer toggery generally.

On the go up: Several brick and many frame buildings.

On the go down: Strawberries swimming in cream.

The Commencement at Birmingham Seminary takes place next Wednesday, the 24th.

We think we represent public opinion when we say, it, the weather, is getting hot.

A Concert Troupe will give an entertainment in the Catholic church this Tuesday eve.

Dry jokes about the wet weather are out of date.

Tight pants show off big feet to great advantage. They show in such bold relief.

A word in season: Ladies, try to think of your window curtains when about to retire.

Why isn't the law enforced against persons fishing with nets and seines? Fishes, like birds, should be caught on the fly.

Grapes, pears, and peaches are not going to do well this year, but plums and apples may, if the locusts don't play hob with them.

The Young America base ball club of this place, were beaten by the Logan club of Mt. Union, the other week. Score, 36 to 33.

A boy twelve years old died very suddenly at Summitville, Cambria county, on Sunday, from eating too freely of birch bark. Caution.

Jessie, a little son of Mr. John S. Miller, of Alexandria, this county, took very sick on Saturday last, from eating locust blossoms.

An infant child of Mr. Peter Reddinger, residing near Chaneysville, Blair county, died from the effects of eating a piece of paper

The schedule of the Penna. railroad was again changed on the 8th inst. The changes have been made in to-day's paper.

The Penna. Railroad station house at Wilmore, Cambria county, was recently destroyed by fire.

We see some of our exchanges publish the "Egyptian Corn" swindle—to swindle all who may be foolish enough to believe in the advertisement.

An unknown man was killed on the Penna. railroad, near McVeytown. He had gone from one track to avoid an approaching train, to be killed by another on the other track.

The Young Men's Christian Associations in different places, are holding a series of open air meetings, during the summer, on the Sabbath evening of each week.

Mr. W. F. Ramey, formerly of this place, has been chosen Surveyor of Altoona city.—He is well qualified for the position, and we congratulate him on his good luck.

The constitutionality of the new Registry law was argued before the Supreme Court, of Philadelphia, the other week. The opinion will not be given till their next sitting, July 1st.

The editor of the Mt. Union Times says he has "over four hundred" subscribers who receive the paper for nothing. Bro. Jeffries, we rather suspect you are not adopting the cash system now in vogue hereabouts.

A deaf and dumb boy 14 years of age, named John Fare, whose parents reside in Frankstown, Blair county, was run over and instantly killed on the Penna. railroad near Philadelphia.

The brace rod of a heavy crane in one of the Company's blacksmith shops at Altoona fell and struck Joseph Dye on the head, making an ugly gash, but fortunately did not fracture the skull.

Mr. Samuel Adams, of Shirley township, this county, was recently killed by lightning. He had been plowing, and when the storm came up took refuge under a small tree. He leaves a family.

The address delivered by Mr. Scott at the soldiers' graves was taken down in short hand by Mr. Robert McDivitt, who kindly furnished us with a copy. We unintentionally neglected at the time to give him credit for the same—we do so now.

Strange: When editors notice the giddy fashions of the gentlemen they make a great ado; but when the ladies come in for their share, they breathe not a word. Well, some people do think themselves "lords of creation," but then they ain't.

We had the pleasure on Saturday evening of testing the quality of the ice cream furnished at Mr. Nathan Corbin's saloon. It was equal to the best, and then his saloon is just the place to feel comfortable. Good ice cream is not hard to take.

The Hollidaysburg Standard says: "The Huntingdon Rads have formed a Grant Club. Father Lewis, of the Globe, is the Treasurer. Nuff sed." How comes it, Traugh, you know so much about playing Treasurer. You've just "sed nuff" to convict yourself.

A genius in Detroit is said to be preparing to "shoot Niagara" in an India rubber boat, which he is engaged in constructing. It is to be air-tight and provided with a seat to which he is to be tied. He may not have gumption enough to make his will in advance but yet he ought.

We call attention to advertisement of P. S. Isenberg & Co., in another column. The firm is composed of deserving young men and we have no doubt they will give satisfaction. Persons wanting a carriage, wagon, or other vehicle, new or repaired, should give them a call.

There is only one way of properly supporting a newspaper and that is to see that all subscriptions are promptly paid at the beginning of the year. Let every one who reads this, ask himself or herself, "have I paid for my paper?—and if not am I dealing justly with the publisher?

Lewistown, if we may believe the Democrat, must be blest with some rather gay and festive girls. That paper says that some of them milked a cow one day lately, and strained the milk through their dresses, and another played circus by trying to crawl through a window sash. The editor thinks the latter feat must have been "splendid fun," and wishes he had been there to see.

Fifteen cent notes have been put in circulation. They are as wide as the twenty-five cent notes, but somewhat shorter. The vignettes of Grant and Sherman are on them; but because the likeness of Grant is on them, it is no reason that Democrats will refuse to accept them as legal tender. We will accept thirteen of them plus a five cent note for one year's subscription at any time—or any other genuine stamps.

A boot and shoe manufactory, that will turn out several hundred pairs of shoes per day, is talked of at Bellefonte. Ever since one manufacture has been started there, the project appears to pay so well that the men of means are thinking of what else they might invest in, and improve the town.—That's just the spirit that is wanted in Huntingdon We will venture the assertion that ours is as wealthy a town as Bellefonte, and we know we have infinitely better facilities for manufacturing purposes, then why not pitch in?

The Altoona Vindicator publishes the following: "An excursion party, consisting of the lady boarders at Birmingham Seminary, visited Kittanning Point, and other places of interest in this vicinity, on Saturday. They were furnished with an elegant car, and we will venture to say that it contained more genuine sweetness on that occasion than at any former period. Wouldn't a single young man be in an awful fix if he were compelled to travel with a wild lot of wild boarding school Misses, all cooped up in a car together. Whew." That "awful fix" depends upon whether the single young man had some "sweetness" in the car that he thought of more than the rest. We have an idea that some of the single young men in this county would have "kind a sorter" liked to have been in the party; no matter how much the other girls than their own would have poked fun at them.

The death of Matthew Newkirk, Esq., occurred in Philadelphia on Sabbath evening, May 31st, on which day he completed his seventy-fourth year. Mr. Newkirk was a native of Pittsgrove, N. J., became a resident of Philadelphia in 1819, where he accumulated a large estate, was an officer in the war of 1812, superintended the erection of Girard College, was long a member of the city councils, the projector of the Philadelphia and Baltimore Railroad, the oldest trustee of Princeton College, an elder in the Central Presbyterian Church, and an efficient member of numerous benevolent Boards and Associations. His only child living is Rev. Matthew Newkirk, Jr., of Downingtown, Penna. Mr. Newkirk was at one time a heavy stockholder in the Cambria Iron Co., and was its President in 1854-5.

An editor along the Juniata grows 'thusly' sentimental: "Nature now looks specially grand and beautiful. The surrounding hills bedecked with waving pines tower above the verdant fields, and the laughing waters of the Juniata reflect the azure blue of the heavenly sky above, while ever and anon the chorus of echoing strains from the locust and katydid, is wafted to our ears by the gentle zephyr, bearing on its wings the sweet fragrance of buds and blossoms. O, it is grand! How sweet to contemplate the beauties of Nature! What a soothing balm has such a reverie for the sorrows of frail humanity! It is the realization of pleasure once enjoyed by our first parents in the Garden of Eden, and is a sweet foretaste of the infinite happiness beyond, in reserve for those who love and serve their Creator—God."

Masonic Demonstration.

The laying of the corner stone of the new Masonic Temple on Broad street, in the city of Philadelphia, on the 24th of June, will be the grandest Masonic ovation on record. Eight thousand Masons will be in rank, all appearing in full Masonic dress. The procession will form on Broad street at eight o'clock, counter-marching almost the entire length of that magnificent street. Some twelve of the best bands have been engaged for the occasion. At high meridian the corner stone will be laid by Richard Vaux, Esq., and an address delivered by Judge Jones, of Reading, the President Judge, at present, of that Judicial District. The masonic odes will be rendered on the occasion by two hundred of the best choristers. A grand banquet will be given at the Academy of Music in the evening, where the ceremonies will be continued, table lodge opened, and where speech, song and sentiment will make the occasion one long to be remembered by the craft.

The Great National Camp Meeting.

The Lancaster Intelligencer says, preparations are being rapidly completed for the great national camp meeting which is to be held under the auspices of the M. E. Church at Manheim. Several new wells have been dug and the springs cleaned out and arranged so that there will be the greatest abundance of excellent water. Already 375 tents have been located, and it is estimated that not less than 100 more will be erected by citizens of Lancaster and Columbia alone.—Many of the tents already located are from a distance, and applications for places are still coming in. This promises to be the largest gathering of the kind in the United States. Excursion tickets will be issued by the various railroads leading to it. It will open on July 14th and close July 24th.

Sad Accident.

On Friday last, while a man by the name of Baker was engaged at work in the "Eagle Foundry," Huntingdon county, his head come in contact with a circular saw that was in motion, laying it open in the occipito frontal direction, producing instant death. But a few moments before the accident occurred, he was warned of his carelessness while working so close to the saw, by a fellow workman but paid no attention to the advice. He was about 22 years of age, and had been married but a few months.—Bedford Co. Press.

Repaired.

On Saturday evening last the repairs on the trestle at Rough and Ready which was broken down recently, were completed, and trains commenced to run as regularly as usual yesterday morning. The road throughout is now in the best condition, is safe for travel, and the utmost precaution is being taken to prevent a repetition of the recent unfortunate occurrence. The speedy reparation of the destroyed trestle is sufficient evidence of the promptness of the managers of the road, and reflects great credit upon the skill of Mr. Fulton, Resident Engineer, who has had the undertaking in charge. We learn that the exact height of the trestle in question is sixty-three feet, three inches, to which add the depth of a car, about seven feet, and we have a distance of over seventy feet that the man Houpt jumped to save his life. Such a jump has not been equalled since the days of Sam Patch.

Hardware, &c.

Mr. A. R. Stewart has purchased the mammoth Hardware store of Jas. A. Brown, in this place, and the business will hereafter be conducted by that gentleman. This store needs no commendation from us, as the creditable and successful manner in which the former owner transacted the business for twelve years, together with his liberal use of printer's ink, has given it a good standing in our community and in the country. Of Mr. Stewart, the incumbent, we may say that he possesses good business qualities, and by his promptness and readiness to accommodate customers he hopes to merit a liberal share of their patronage. We advise our readers, who are in want of anything in the hardware line, from a needle to an anvil, to call at the store of Mr. Stewart. We will publish advertisement next week. 1t

YEAGERTOWN, Mifflin Co., May 20, 1868.

MESSRS EDITORS:—Thinking that it might be to the advantage of the people to call their attention to the subject of Life Insurance, I would state that Mr. Jno. T. Carlin, late of this county, had an insurance effected on his life in March 1868, for $2500 00 in the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia, at the Huntingdon Agency. He died in February last, having paid two annual premiums. Mr. Kent, a director and general agent of the company, called on Mrs. Carlin on the 19th and paid the amount of Insurance in full, $2500, thus leaving her in possession of a sum that will prove a very material aid in the pathway and journey of life.

Yours truly, JNO. HOYT.

The Presbyterian Church.

In view of the probable reunion of the two schools of this Church, the following statistics are of interest:

The Old School.—This branch of the Presbyterian church is the most numerous of that denomination. In 1867 it numbered 35 Synods, 176 Presbyteries, 2,302 ministers, 2,622 churches, 246,350 communicants, and 195,023 persons connected with its Sabbath schools.

New School.—The New School branch is not far behind that of its sister in its prosperity. It has 23 Synods, 109 Presbyteries, 1,870 ministers, 1,560 churches, 161,539 communicants, and 163,242 persons connected with its Sunday Schools.

Mrs. Rachel Pardonour, a lunatic confined in the Alms House at Shirleysburg for some years past, died on Friday. She hailed from Cassville, was perhaps forty years of age, and is said to have been a handsome and intelligent young woman previous to her insanity. For a long time past, she has occupied a cell in the "mad-house"—a small structure apart from the main building. No article of clothing could be kept on her person, nor any kind of bed in her cell; and for the greater part of the time she remained crouched at her grated door. Her husband and children we believe, still reside at Cassville.—Mt Union Herald.

There is no medicine prepared that has a reputation for excellence superior to that of Hoofland's German Bitters. This article is looked upon by those who are not acquainted with it, as most patent medicines are, a mere clap-trap to catch the simple. It is not in reality a Patent Medicine, but a genuine article, prepared by men who have an intimate acquaintance with medicine, and the requirements of the system when laboring under disease. For Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Nervous Debility, &c., it has no equal. We know of a number of persons who suffered for years with these complaints, until they were relieved by a trial of this remedy, and one person in particular, who suffered from Dyspepsia for ten years, desires us to state for the information of the public, that he has been entirely relieved and restored, he believes, by the use of this article alone.

The above is taken from the editorial columns of the "Dispatch," Erie, Pa. and speaks volumes.

"Hoofland's German Bitters" is entirely free from all Alcoholic admixture.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with pure Santa Cruz Rum, orange, anise, &c. It is used for the same diseases as the Bitters, in cases where an Alcoholic Stimulant is required. It is a preparation of rare medical value, and most agreeable to the palate.

THE BREVITY OF LIFE.

"'Tis not for man to trifle, life is brief,
Our age is but the falling of a leaf.
We have no time to sport away the hours,
All must be earnest in a world like ours.
Not many lives, but one have we,
How sacred should that one be?"

And still how many fritter away their lives unable to fill any useful purpose, because some lingering disease unfits them for it, and they neglect or refuse to use the remedies within their reach God in his wonderful arrangement of nature has provided an antidote for all the ills that human flesh is heir to, and by the aid of science, the medicinal virtues of certain herbs, roots and barks have been combined, and the result is now known all over the civilized world as Mishler's Herb Bitters. It thoroughly purifies the blood, invigorates the nervous fibres, elevates the standard of all the vital forces, and sustains a most healthful tone of the entire human organization. AGRICULTURAL CLIPPINGS.

English farmers believe that "hilling up" potatoes reduces their yield one-fourth. They do not ripen as well.—Soft soap suds will be found a valuable fertilizer for gardens and yards of sandy soil—and almost any other for all that. Suds from bar soap are of less value.—Every farmer ought to know that cut nails heated red hot and dropped in cold water will clinch as well as wrought nails.—Currants to do their best must be freely pruned and heavily mulched.—Beans are a most nutritious food for man or beats. For men and hogs they should be cooked, for sheep fed raw.—Many women are becoming bee-keepers and making money at it. They are not the kind, however, that squeal at the sight of spiders. —Sheep kept with cows are not so apt to be killed by dogs as when alone. The cows fight for them.—Potatoes can be grown much earlier by sprouting them, in a warm bed before planting. Place them on a layer of manure and cover with sand. Transplant the middle of May.——It is said that the last cup of milk drawn from the cow—"the stripping"—contains sixteen times as much cream as the first cup. We will not vouch for the exact figures but the true ones are large.—It is as easy to raise a bushel of good apples as a bushel of poor ones. Whatis a dollar or two of extra preliminary expense in getting good trees?——The Department of Agriculture says that ten million bushels of wheat are wasted in this country annually by bad sowing, too deep, too shallow, too thick, too thin, uneven.——Clean out the cellars, "about this time" and give them a thorough airing. It is about as safe to live over a gunpowder magazine as the filth and poisonous odors of some cellars. But the stuff doesn't poison your land—use it there.——The apple tree makes a good hedge,but the wilder and poorer the variety the thornier and better for that purpose.——Solon Robison says "Food should never be given to fowls unless they are hungry enough to go crazy after it." Doubted. Hens will do first rate with corn lying by them all the time.——The best butter factories prefer the dasher churn, in its old fashioned style, to all others. ——For greasing wood axles tallow is the best, for iron axles castor oil. It is a common fault to put on too much at a time but not often enough.——John Johnson says that one load of manure as top dressing is worth two plowed under, on stiff land.——London dairy-men have decided that the most profitable cows are graded short horns. Not that they give more milk, but they make the most beef when past milking.——Multitudes of farm accidents happen because nuts on running gear are not looked after and kept tight. Five minutes attention each day, wrench in hand, is the remedy. ——Early hatched chickens make early layers next winter.——Where bees forage on grazing lands all the honey they get is so much sweetness and nutriment taken from the pasturage. It is not certain that the loss is not a serious one to the dairy.——The soil around blacksmith shops, or any that is much impregnated with iron, is fat food for pear trees.——In setting out orchards a register in which every tree is marked and its name put down should be regarded as indispensable.—Memory can't be trusted to keep names and varieties until bearing time.——It is a fact susceptible of proof that crops would be greatly increased if the soil could be worked twice as deeply as now.——There is no mistake about the great value of deep plowing.——Gardens need rotation—entire change of locality as well as crops. Larger crops with less work and expense is the consequence.—Chicago Advance.

FORTY PERSONS POISONED BY ICE CREAM.—We learn by a gentleman directly from Helena, Arkansas, of a frightful occurrence, which had thrown consternation and intense excitement over the city. Over forty persons were poisoned by partaking of ice cream last Wednesday, and it was feared a number of them would die.—They were in a critical condition, and the entire community was greatly agitated.

The particulars that we were able to gather are briefly as follows:—The proprietor of the ice cream saloon, a Frenchman, made up a large quantity of ice cream, the first of the season, and it was distributed gratis and freely partaken of by his friends. Shortly afterward all who tasted the cream were seized with violent pain, and most of them were prostrated and in a critical condition when our informant passed the city. Four members of the Frenchman's family were among those afflicted.

Mr. Coolidge, the telegraph operator and his wife, were both down, and the recovery of the latter was considered doubtful.

A bucket full of the ice cream had been sent to the female college and freely partaken of by the young ladies, and they were all dangerously taken down. Various others were likewise afflicted.

The doctors had analyzed some of the cream. They pronounced the poison to be arsenic. There were no well-defined conjectures in regard to the cause of the terrible affair. Whether it was the work of some malicious fiend, or one of those terrible accidents which decimate and appal a whole community, are questions which future investigations may answer; but in the meantime the catastrophe remains unexplained.—Memphis Avalanche.

VALUE OF OLD ROPE.—Among the numerous and worn-out and often considered worthless materials which the ingenuity of man has discovered means of re-manufacturing; and rendering of equal value with the original substance, are old tarred ropes. Our readers will be surprised when we inform them that out of this dirty and apparently unbleachable substance is produced a tissue paper of the most beautiful fabric, even of surface, and delicate of color; a ream of which, with wrappers and strings, weighs two and a half pounds. It is used principally in the potteries for transferring the various patterns to the earthen ware, and is found superior to any substance yet known for that purpose. It is so tenacious that a sheet of it twisted by the hand in form of rope will support upwards of one hundred weight.

TO THE AFFLICTED!

AN ARTICLE OF REAL MERIT!

FOSTER'S

ORIENTAL BITTERS,

A Remedy that has been tried and stood the test, not only in an occasional case, but in every community where used it has been pronounced the safest and most reliable remedy known for

DYSPEPSIA,

LOSS OF APPETITE,

WEAKNESS,

GENERAL DEBILITY,

PAIN OR CRAMP IN THE STOMACH OR BOWELS,

CHOLERA MORBUS,

HEADACHE,

NEURALGIA,

INTERMITTENT, OR CHILLS

AND FEVER,

LIVER TONIC,

AND FOR ALL FEMALE DISEASES.

As an agreeable and safe remedy and an Invigorating Beverage it has no equal.

This valuable Bitters is composed of the essential properties of roots—the medicinal qualities of which have been carefully extracted. It is agreeable to the taste and does not leave that unpleasant taste in the mouth for hours after, that most medicines do.

As a Blood Purifier and Liver Tonic it has no equal.—It contains no calomel or other injurious drug, but is purely vegetable.

For Dyspepsia it cannot be excelled. It contains nothing injurious to the stomach, is mild and prompt in its action and effects a permanent cure by removing the cause of the complaint.

For Intermittent Fever or Chills and Fever this Bitters is a specific far better and surer than quinine.

No family should be without it as the cost is trifling compared with the suffering that may be avoided by having it at hand in case of sudden attack.

Weakly Persons use the Oriental Bitters.

Invalids use the Oriental Bitters.

Dyspeptics use the Oriental Bitters.

Females use the Oriental Bitters.

DR. W. H. WITMOR

Has been in successful practice for a number of years, with the experience of the different Hospitals in Europe and America. Army and Hospital Surgeon during the late American War, continues to attend to all professional cases at his office,

No. 928 Filbert Street, Philadelphia.

No Patent Medicines are used or recommended: the remedies administered are those which will not break down the constitution, but renovate the system from all injuries it has sustained from mineral medicines, and leave the system in a healthy and perfectly cured condition.

DYSPEPSIA,

that distressing disease and fell destroyer of health and happiness, undermining the constitution and yearly carrying thousands to untimely graves, can most emphatically be cured.

MELANCHOLY ABERRATION, that state of alienation and weakness of the mind which renders persons incapable of enjoying the pleasures or performing the duties of life.

RHEUMATISM,

in any form or condition, chronic or acute, warranted curable.

EPILEPSY,

or falling sickness, all chronic or stubborn cases of radically removed; Salt Rheum and every description of ulcerations; Piles and Scrofulous Diseases which have baffled all previous medical skill, can be cured by my treatment; and I do say all diseases [yes Consumption] can be cured by wearing my Medicated Jacket, which is a protection to the lungs against all changes of weather in all climates. Having investigated for years the cause and character of intermittents [fever and ague] in all parts of the United States, will cure permanently all chronic or acute cases of ague and nervous diseases in a few days.

FEMALE DISEASES

Cancer Cured without the use of Knife, or Drawing Blood.

Tape Worm, that dread to the human family for years, can be removed with two or three doses of my newly discovered remedy, warranted in all cases. Consultation in the English and German languages. Will make visits any distance desired. May be addressed by letter [confidentially] and medicine sent with proper directions to any part of the country.
